I object to the designs of the new market and high risk developement for reasons:

- height of the these high density storey buildings are too high, will result in the lack of sunlight to their residents - the overshadowing controls should also apply to these people/place too , not just the oval.
- there is no open space and greenery to the market, and the feeling of congestion/claustrophobic
- the lack of car park (where do people park for market?)
- what about the fishmongers, cafes, unique places that sell cheese/cured food/pasta?
- there is too high housing density, number of people per square meter. This will degrade and devalue the area. These buildings will not be of good quality in 20 years time.
- there is hardly any green spaces for the people of the area, the oval across the road may not be available or will be overused.

- hardly any weather protection for traders and customers - no roof
