Preston is soon becoming a place of high rise apartments , over populations and traffic! The Preston market is apart of the heritage of the suburb and one thing we have left. These new proposed plans support nothing of the background of this suburb.

Answer me this, if you can protect a heritage building but can we not protect a market?

The market should stay where it is, without being moved. If the plan is to upgrade the market making it better for the community then this is something I support.

Simply selling parts of the land and moving the market to make room for apartments is ridiculous.

Australia isn't like Europe and Asia, the prime reason people love to live here - you'll be ruining this if you move forward with the plans.

Please keep our market the way it is.

I confirm that I have read and agree to the above conditions for making a submission.
