The proposed high rise buildings are an inappropriate development for the area. It results in increased shading (despite the promises of developers), increased isolation, potentially increased crime, and is an eyesore. Medium rise buildings (up to 4 stories high), would be much more appropriate.

The increased accessibility of the Preston Market precinct for pedestrians, cyclists, and public transport users is fantastic and to be commended. Increased car access and car parking should be avoided though, as it is impossible to provide enough of this due to the increase in this type of access encouraging increased driving, which we already know becomes a feedback loop of undesirable outcomes. Disability access means that car access shouldn't be removed entirely though.

I confirm that I have read and agree to the above conditions for making a submission.
