I read with interest your brochure "Have your say on the Arden Precinct", but a few areas concern me about it.

I'm delighted to see that there is significant open space for active and passive recreation and provision for a primary school. However

There does not seem to be any provision for post primary education

Most of the residential buildings seem to be over 4 levels tall

There is no provision to prevent this becoming a wind tunnel, especially along Arden Street

There appears to be no noise abatement provision for this area from the Upwey railway or from Citylink

I would prefer to see a development like the one on the old Kensington Abbotoirs site which is largely two to four levels with small, integrated open spaces particularly suitable for passive recreation and for use by families. This would align better with the current built environment and lead to a better quality of life for the people living there and their neighbors.

I confirm that I have read and agree to the above conditions for making a submission.
