So I currently live in Brunswick, but have been thinking of moving to the city - possibly the Arden area in the near future. My largest concern is public space - much of Melbourne has access to large public parks and gardens full of deciduous trees & public amenities and art works. I am hoping that this will be the case in the plans for Arden & that reasonable landscaping plans for any park take into consideration rather than just random trees on a grassy lawn. It's important to have shade canopy & tree avenues are lovely. It's also important that this translates into the planning for the streetscape as we move towards a climate being continually warmed by climate change - so large shade street trees like elms or maples will be very necessary! My submission is more of a statement than a question thank you!

I confirm that I have read and agree to the above conditions for making a submission.
