It seems that Laurens St may be once again connected to join up with Adderley Street. The road was closed to stop through traffic along Adderley St to Duddley St. The west bound lane of Adderley St was closed tho vehicle traffic in the mid 1980's. Regardless of whether or not Laurens St will be opened again, there is too much east bound traffic along Adderley St to Duddley St. This is likely to increase with the completion of the Westgate tunnel works.

It has been proposed before, an I'm now proposing it again, that the east bound lane of Adderley St be closed at Duddley St to prevent through traffic.

Also, that no hard bike lane be constructed along Adderley St. That the complete closure of Adderley St at Duddley to motorized vehicles, and the reduction of the speed limit along Adderley St to 30kph would quieten the traffic to locals. This would increase the amenity for local traffic, cyclist, and pedestrians in both Adderley St neighborhood, and the Arden St precinct.

With the increasing population in the neighbourhood, the road closure where Adderley St intersects with Duddley St could be turned into a park.

Kind regards, Caitlin Wood
